W. C. T. U. SPEAKER
CALLS PROHIBITIONISTS
TO BE ON GUARD

An informal talk along the line of patriotic ideals was given last evening at the parlors of the Methodist church by Mrs. Linnie Carle, under the auspices of the local W. C. T. U.

She briefly outlined some of the work of the national organization. Its motto which had been in the past "For God, Home and Native Land," had been broadened, she said, until now it read—"For God, Home and Every Land," and the organization was spreading out until its scope in Mexico, unless something was done to prevent it," she said. "It had been responsible for much misery and needless suffering in Asiatic countries, and it was these conditions the W. C. T. U. was trying to remedy."

She paid her respects to the organized liquor interests which had spent some millions of dollars a year in this country in opposing dry legislation. "Beer power, means German power," she said in speaking about the German American alliance, "which had worked consistently for years in this country, to promote German ideas and ideals, to make the language taught in the public schools of this country, and to fight prohibition. These are the things for which this alliance was pledged, and for which it paid the large amount of money turned over to it by the liquor interests."

She had something to say about the plea for personal liberty which was being raised by the liquor interests at this time, and said the real test of patriotism was the submission to the will of the land. What the liquor interests were doing at this time, she showed, was working on the United States supreme court, trying to have them decide that beer and light wines were not intoxicants.

She begged every one to write to his representative in both the state and the nation, urging them to vote against these bills.

"The whole business was an outlay of money and was only permitted to keep on for the revenue which it brought in to the coffers of the government. And the whole thing would have been abolished 10 years ago if the good church people had awakened to their responsibility and made its interests part of their church duties," she said.

She gave several readings which showed a wide range of talent. Among these were two child poems by Riley, and that strong tale of African marches by Kipling, "Boots." She also gave "Tilks Need a Heap of Loving," and "It Can't Be Done."

She gave the high school yesterday and in connection with the work started in the Health week which is to be put on soon, she will supply literature which gives a ground work in knowledge of alcohol and nicotine on the human system.

In connection with her meeting contributions were taken for the Jubilee fund of the W. C. T. U. which is set for a million dollars and a million members for this year.

CENTER FARMER HAS
MIDNIGHT FIRE

(By Special Correspondent.)
Center, May 20.—The tobacco shed, farm machinery, and two buggies stored in the shed were destroyed by fire on the Julius Jueger farm last night. The blaze broke out about 11:30, of unknown origin. Neighbors were called in for help but the flames had gained such headway that the shed was burned to the ground. The fire was kept from spreading to other buildings. The loss is mostly covered by insurance. The Jueger farm is located a little south of the Magnolia road.

FRANCES WILLARD
DAY SET FOR SEPT. 28

Frances Willard day has been established by the legislature as the 28th of September. Any year when the date shall not fall on a school day, it shall be celebrated as near this as possible. Approximately one and one-half hours may be devoted in the schools of the state for instruction and appropriate exercises relative to the life of Frances Willard and to the principles she fostered.

This is of especial interest to local people because the W. C. T. U. reformer lived on a farm two and one-half miles southwest of this city. The district school bears her name. She was born September 23, 1839, in Churchville, Monroe county, N. Y., and moved to Janesville when she was three years old. In her book "Glimpses of Fifty Years," she tells of her life in Janesville.

Virginia Clemons

Virginia Clemons, daughter of E. E. Clemons, 423 Cornelia street, narrowly escaped serious injury last evening when she was thrown from an automobile driven by her father. The young girl escaped with a few minor bruises.

Mr. Clemons was driving north on South Main street and as he swung around the corner to go east on Court street the child was hurled to the street. It is thought that the door became unstayed and opened as the car was rounding the corner.

$500 more than the price of a Maxwell will buy you mere size only

Maxwell Motor Cars
More miles per gallon
More miles per dollar

FOR a Maxwell has every single modern device that any car selling within $500 of its price possesses.

The only thing an extra $500 will procure is size—a few inches of wheelbase, 2 inches of tire, 50 pounds more of engine, and 5 or 10 other things that a $20 note would easily cover.

Then you run the risk of not getting as good a car as a Maxwell.

For it is one thing to build a 10,000 a year car and another to build a 50,000 a year car.

The chances are in favor of far of finding the real merit in the latter.

The Maxwell has a record run of 300,000— all of one model—behind it.

That means sureness of design, freedom from "temperament," reliability plus economy for certain, and always a ready market value.

A larger car costs more to maintain. A smaller car has less luxury.

BACK THEM UP.

Company M soldiers who came back home yesterday were given a fitting reception. Men, women and children cheered them as they marched through the streets. Music, speeches and entertainment aided in making the home-coming as joyous as the boys could wish.

They are not only in Company M,
but in other units—not only the fellows who came back yesterday, but those who came back previous to the arrival of the unit. We are proud of those who are still to come. And our hearts throb with glorious pride mingled with sadness when we think of those who will never come back—
the boys who made the supreme sacrifice.

But we will settle down to our task
of following the pursuits of peace.
We have many problems before us—
problems which concern reconstruction.
We perhaps do not realize it yet
yet we have not had a great deal of time to size up those fellows who went over to the battlefields of France and fought our battles, and when we finally get the right sight on them, we are going to find that they have changed. They are not the same boys who went away. They look the same, in a general way, but they are different. Most of them went away youths who were seeking adventure—youths fired with the spirit of patriotism. They were not anxious to get into the line of fire. They were not looking for adventure. Today they are different.
You can see it in their eyes; in the expression of their faces; in the manner in which they carry themselves and the way they talk.

They have seen something that has awakened them to the importance of life, even though they were compelled to take life to get this realization.
The things that were passed lightly by as something to be met when the time came, now have a real significance. In fact our soldiers who went away as boys have come back men.
They are not going to be satisfied with the things they were satisfied with before Uncle Sam's training, and their point of view changed their outlook
on life.

SIXTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

Congress met under way yesterday
as scheduled, and those things which have been planned for several weeks
have been carried out in a preliminary way. The republicans have come back to their own after several years of being in the minority. They have definite ideas about certain acts of omission and commission for which they hold the democratic administration responsible, and which they will attempt to hold up for a general analysis. How successful they will be depends a great deal upon the successful organization of the anti-administration forces. So many big problems are confronting the congress that there seems to be a question in the minds of some of the lawmakers as to whether it would be well to devote time to make over the conduct of the administration instead of plunging into the reconstruction problems ahead of it.

There is no question in the minds of a great many people that some of the acts of the administration should be criticised and that an attempt be made to place the blame for the many ridiculous mistakes made during the war.

The senate is going to be busy with the league of nations problem and it is doubtful if the covenant will be recognizable when it finally is presented as the upper house thinks it should be. The covenant will not be ratified without the closest scrutiny, that is certain.

DO NOT WASTE!

The department of commerce is waging a campaign against waste.
The following arguments are presented
on the subject:

"The war is not ended! America is engaged in a struggle which knows no armistice or peace terms. The struggle for the preservation of our national resources, bitter in the past, has been but intensified by the war.
The unprecedented demand for raw material, so essential to the needs of our war industries, intensified the conservation and utilization of waste material. This has resulted in a scarcity of the substitutes for virgin raw material and unless our efforts for conservation are continued, the natural resources must be utilized as soon as our industries resume operation at full capacity.

"Waste material is the protector of our natural resources! Waste paper, rags, and other waste material can be used in new forms, thereby decreas-ing the annual consumption of virgin material. The conservation of this material must be continued in order to save our natural wealth for future needs.

"The present turn-in of waste material, resulting from the spring collections, is indicative of the influence of the war. The waste dealers report that this is the lightest collection in the history of the trade. The cause of this lies in several factors. The volunteer movement for collection of waste material resulted in a tremondous turn-in during the last two years. Civic bodies, charitable organizations, and women's clubs all contributed to this movement of waste material which brought to the market the accumulations of regions heretofore untouched by the commercial collector.

"A second factor lies in our relief
and recreational work overseas.
Thousands of tons of worn clothing,
which in the ordinary course of events would have been re-manufactured in the waste industry, have been sent overseas to clothe the destitute of Europe. Thousands of tons of books, papers, and magazines,
which can be utilized in the manufacture of other grades of paper, were sent to our troops overseas. This material will be discarded in foreign fields, thereby decreasing to an appreciable degree the amount of raw material available for the manufacturers of this country.

"The third cause lies in the price situation. Waste material prices have been steadily declining since last fall.
The collectors and processors have been forced to buy out of the market, which in many instances has resulted in the destruction of waste material in the home or the factory. The consuming mills, meeting a lull in orders, have decreased their orders and the organized commercial field for conservation must await a strengthening note; but when the demand comes,
the shortage of material will be felt and prices will increase and will doubtless be maintained for some time.

"The most important factor in the situation is the collector. The collector, or junkman, is the foundation of the waste industry. At best, he has made but a precarious livelihood.
The larger and constant earnings to be secured in the war industries were responsible for many collectors abandoning the line. Not in the cessation of hostilities resulted in any marked movement on their part to resume their previous occupation, and it cannot be predicted with any degree of certainty when such a movement will occur.

THE OLD HOME TEAM.

By O. C. M.
The depot at Sardinia at train time in the evening might be compared to Broadway at the very time that is you ain't a stickler for details. The same old crowd is still there.

There's old Dad Spittan, who has palsy so bad he has to wear suspenders and there's Bud Thornhill, who has been ex-county commissioner for high onto ten years. They're friendly with the baggage-master, Lem Holloway, being' jined out to the same G. A.
R. Post and they get the best seats on the baggage truck.

Since the free medicine show pitched in the Glenden lot there's been a notable falling off in attendance to see No. 24 come in. One of those greatly missed is Miss Hortense Penfield.
She's been sent up for a year's term in a finishin' school by her Paw for passin' the Park Hotel so frequent.

Station Agent Jimmy Prewitt has been sellin' tickets to the travelin'
public for eight years and nobody yet
has ever seen him smile.

Nearly the hull populace was down to the depot Saturday night to see the opery troop, "Lights O' a Great City," come in. The troop looked like humans cepin' the wimmin had taller hair and toted lap dogs and the men actors wore fur-lined overcoats and the new fangled rain-owl glasses.

Lige Jackson has bin speadin' nervous indigestion among tourists to Sardinia, as proprietor of the Depot
of the poorhouse durin' the McKinley administration for bein' so abie-bodied. A puny, skinny-lookin' soap drummer stepped into Lige's place between trains last week and bought the last cut of Lige's well-known mince pie. It's the same pie that has bin decoratin' the window since the Woodmen had their tog-rولين last spring.

SOLDIER FUND BLOCKED.
The attorney general has given an opinion that the state can levy a tax for a public purpose, but holds that supplying discharged soldiers with funds so that they may readjust themselves to civil life is not a public purpose. It has been suggested by a sub-committee on soldiers' bills that a bill be passed by the legislature creating a board consisting of the governor, adjutant general and chairman of the state council of defense to have charge of the plan for raising the amount sufficient to provide funds for returning soldiers by popular subscription. This committee further suggests that the subscription quota be based upon the assessed valuation of counties.

If the state legislature cannot pass
a law which is constitutional, then immediate plans should be made for the building of an organization which will collect the necessary funds through popular subscription. If the state of Wisconsin cannot tax its people for the boys who made such glorious records in this great war so that they may have a chance to get back to ordinary life without embarrassment, then the people as a popular organization will see that the soldiers
get the funds they deserve.

Now is the time to get busy in that Victory garden. The weather has been a little against us, that is true, but many sunshiny days are coming
so it is well to make preparations now for getting after the weeds which will come later.

Now that our "Los Terribles" have returned and have been given a rousing welcome, our next step is to prepare for a demonstration, or celebration for all the boys who have taken part in routing the German militarists.

With the building activities which have gotten into full swing, Janesville can point with pride to her share in carrying out Uncle Sam's edict to build now. Buildings are popping up like mushrooms in many parts of the city.

"CROWD EFFICIENTLY HANDLED" DULIN SAYS

Alderman Dulin who is acting as mayor during the absence of Mayor T. E. Welsh, received several complaints during the past week in which the police officers handled the huge crowd on Monday. Alderman Dulin made all of the plans for the handling of the crowd on Saturday, during a conference with Chief of Police William Gower.

It is the first time in the history of the city that Milwaukee and Main street have been clear of automobiles during a parade, one of the committee told Alderman Dulin this morning. Not a car was allowed on Milwaukee or South Main street during the parade and it gave the people a better chance to view the boys as they swung down the street.

"I am more than pleased with the efficient manner in which the crowd was handled," Dulin said this morning. "I discussed the situation with Chief of Police Gower on Saturday and we agreed that no cars would be allowed on West Milwaukee or South Main streets."

COUNCIL'S IRE IS AROUSED OVER STREET LIGHTS' CONDITION

"A person might better live in Afton than Janesville, as it is a better lighted city," Alderman Badger said last evening in his attack on the Janesville Electric company for failure to wash the globes of the ornamental lights in the city. When the company with determination and he refused to give way to any of his colleagues until he told the council and those present stand being taken by the electric company.

"It would be a much easier task for a person to find his way along a cow path than down Milwaukee street," Alderman Badger said. "The company claims that owing to the strike they cannot employ men to wash the globes."

Men Are Armed
"They have put their men to work down there and two of them are armed to the teeth," Alderman Badger shouted.

"What do you mean armed to the teeth?" Alderman Paulz asked. "I mean that two of the men that have been employed by the company are each carrying galling guns several inches long," Badger replied. "I do not think it is right for the company to employ men to wash the globes and I still maintain that the washing of the globes has nothing to do with the strike now in progress," Badger said, "and further suggest that the globes be washed by the city."

Hit Takes Part
Alderman William Hilt jumped to his feet at the point and shouted, "The city has no right to put a man out washing the globes and if such a man is employed the council will be put down as not favoring the union and we have no right to take sides in the matter."

Alderman Badger again took the floor and told in detail of the many trips he made to the electric company and how he was informed each time that owing to the strike it was impossible for the company to engage a man to perform the duties. The Alderman from the first ward was insistent that the council take action by the council and he informed members that there was not a night that a person could not find at least one of the ornamental lights out.

Alderman Cronin who presided during the absence of Mayor Welsh appointed Alderman True to preside while he took the floor. "I realize that we have given the electric company the full time limit to wash the globes but as we are in a hurry to-night and some of the council members are absent, why not let the matter stand until the next meeting," Alderman Dulin said.

A. W. Spaulding asked the permission of the council to move five houses located at 101 Fifth avenue, 109 Fifth avenue, 458 North Main, 482 North Main and 101 North Main to lots 8-9-10-12-14 on Williams street.

Before the permit was granted Alderman Badger addressed the council on the carelessness of the council and how the council would break trees and tear up ground and not make any effort to repair the damages. He told of a house being moved in the first ward and taken directly through the street and breaking several costly elm trees and tearing up the ground.

Pay for Damages
Alderman True stated that if any damage resulted in moving a house that he would make good for it. The council of Alderman Hilt the permit was granted. Alderman Cronin suggested that it would be the best policy if the man who was to be moving a house and the owner of the house applied for the permit.

Alderman Hilt moved that a permit be given the Universal Grocery company to hang an electric sign in front of their store on South Main street. The permit was granted. Alderman True made a motion that B. Fuder be given permission to install a gas tank in front of his place of business at 103 North First street. The permit was allowed.

Alderman Ransom moved that the bills, salaries and pay for the special police be allowed and the city clerk ordered to draw orders for the same. The motion carried. Alderman Hilt presented a list of several sidewalks to be constructed in the different wards throughout the city. The list was referred to the street commissioner.

New Bids Asked For
Alderman Hilt moved that owing to the failure of B. P. Cressman to accept the contract for building city sidewalks, after giving the lowest bid, that all bids be rejected and the city clerk authorized to advertise for new bids, stating that a mixer had to be used. The motion carried.

The motion carried. The street commissioner appoint his assistant to inspect the new walks being put in. Alderman Hilt said. He told of the good that would result and stated that the contractor would not be apt to try to slip anything over if he knew there was an inspector on the job who might drop around at any moment.

Alderman Dulin urged the city clerk to withdraw a lot of work to do and as he only had one assistant he needed him badly.

Alderman Dulin suggested that the matter be put over two weeks as the contract for the building of the sidewalks has not been awarded. The Alderman agreed to let the matter lay over until the next meeting.

Alderman True presented the report of the water department and moved that it be accepted and placed on file. Alderman True asked that the communication from the Wisconsin Telephone company asking for a permit to excavate on North High street be laid over for two weeks. The Alderman agreed.

Alderman Cronin moved that the obstructions on Wheeler street, near Kenton street, be removed. The motion was carried.

Gazette Official Paper
Alderman Kerstel moved that the Janesville Daily Gazette be the official paper for the city of Janesville for the ensuing year. The motion was adopted.

Alderman Badger asked that a clock be purchased for the council chamber. Alderman Paulz, chairman of the committee on public buildings moved that the purchasing committee be requested to purchase the clock. The motion was carried.

Alderman Badger stated that he had received several complaints in the past week about the actions and talk of some of the patron's of the Academy street. He asserted that several first ward women have complained of being insulted as they pass the place. The police committee was ordered to investigate the situation.

City Clerk Victor Hemming gave the second reading of the ordinance for the issue and sale of the school bonds and Alderman True moved that it be laid over two weeks for final consideration.

Bond New Merchants
City Attorney Cunningham addressed the council regarding E. R. Nelson, a photographer, formerly at Rockford, who wanted to open a place of business in Janesville. Mr. Nelson had requested that he be informed of the license law of the city. Cunningham told the members of the

Another Story of Two Orphans

Two orphan girls, who have been in Janesville for the past three weeks were taken before Judge Maxfield in the municipal court this morning on a charge of luring. Both of the girls admitted that they had been out with strange soldiers, but that the khaki clad men had accosted them.

They were asked if they had spoken to the soldiers first and they stoutly denied this, but admitted that they had given the men some "high signs" over their shoulders. The girls claimed that they went to a movie with the soldiers and left them after the show in front of the theatre.

Judge Maxfield gave the girls a second chance and they announced that they would leave town tonight. They have been employed at a downtown hotel for the past two weeks. Judge Maxfield dismissed them with a warning not to come back to court.

JEFFERSON SCHOOL CHILDREN WIN HONORS

Jefferson school pupils made a fine showing this year in the various contests, which have been held for the school children of the city.

Last evening at the Methodist church three prizes were awarded to those who wrote the best essays on prohibition. Those who received prizes were all pupils of the eighth grade of the Jefferson school. Virginia Howe, Florence Smiley, and Beth Nurse.

Earlier in the year the Women's History club offered a prize of $10 in the form of a savings stamp to the writer of the best composition on "War Activities in Janesville." This contest was won by Florence Smiley and John Holmes, also of the Jefferson school, received worthy mention.

Lowth Seeks Recruits for County Schools

The alarming shortage of teachers for the rural schools has caused Principal J. Lowth of the Rock County Training school to make a letter to each of the 400 seniors in the high schools of the county, asking them to consider the teaching profession. It has been necessary to import teachers from other counties to supply the needs during the last two years. If the quota is to be reached this fall, 55 graduates will have to volunteer for service in the country schools.

Soulman Denies He Set Price of $11,500

"I never offered my residence for sale for $11,500 and my price has not been raised," John Soulman said this morning. Alderman J. J. Dulin stated that as far as he knew Mr. Korst never asked such a price for the property.

Alderman Cronin stated that it had been previously announced that he offered his property for sale for $11,500 and that many people were accusing him of holding up the city.

BIRD HIKE

A hike into the woods for all the boys and girls, and everyone, especially those who joined the Bird club started by the Gazette this spring, will be held Thursday afternoon, if the weather permits. The hikers are asked to meet at the Rock point at 4:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Alonzo Pond, who has made a particular study of birds, will lead the hike.

council that there was no fee covering the enterprise if the man was to remain permanently, but if not a license fee of $10 per week was charged.

Then a verbal battle started with all the Aldermen present participating. Alderman True and Cronin both asserted that the man had no right to use a store building for a year that he should not be required to pay a license.

Alderman Hilt moved that he be requested to file a $500 bond to insure his remaining in the city a year. Alderman Cronin and True opposed this.

Alderman Hilt again took the floor and informed the council that Nelson was willing to give a bond. The motion was carried.

EVANSVILLE SENDS BIG DELEGATION TO CO. M RECEPTION

Evansville, May 20.—It would be easier to write the names of the Evansville people who remained at home yesterday than to attempt to record the names of those who were in Janesville to welcome the return of the boys of Company M. The majority of the residents went to the Bower City.

Automobile parties were formed, every available car was used and every one whose business would allow them gathered down. The afternoon train carried a large delegation.

A number of the members of the Military Band left for Janesville during the noon train. These band boys went to Janesville when Company M left for Camp Douglas and again when they passed through Janesville for Vicksburg.

There was a good percent of membership in the original company M, but these men have since been transferred so that only one man from the city was returned with the 32nd. Those who were returned as casuals, Glen Estes, Clarence and Alfred Stiff and Dan Williams, were in line yesterday marching with the company in which they enlisted in 1918.

Among those who were in Janesville were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rodd and family, Mrs. Peter Woodard, Mr. and Mrs. Zala Miller, Mrs. Joseph Farr, Mrs. Barbara Stitt, Mr. and Mrs. Estes, Mrs. H. C. Schlem, Mr. and Mrs. Will Bliven, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Griffith, Mrs. Fred Morrison, Mr. Walter Blunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Van Wormer, Miss W. J. Wormer, Mr. and Mrs. Will Brown, Dr. F. E. ALDERMEN CONFER WITH P. H. KORST

In accordance with the wish of the city council, two members of the lighting committee, Alderman Badger and Paulz, conferred with P. H. Korst, manager of the Janesville Electric company, in regard to washing the globes of the ornamental lights.

"Mr. Korst assured us that he would have the work done as soon as men could be hired to do it, but that may mean that the globes will not be washed this summer," Alderman Paulz said.

Mr. Paulz stated that he believed Mr. Korst was sincere in his efforts, but it was impossible to secure a man to perform the work owing to the electrical strike now in progress in Janesville.

"The work has got to be finished and I think that it is up to Mr. Korst to see that the men are hired to clean the globes," Alderman Badger said.

Alderman Badger stated that as far as he knew four lights had been cleaned since the company was ordered by the council several weeks ago to wash the globes. One man was found who washed three globes before he quit and a colored man was hired who washed one globe and then quit when told of the strike.

Alderman Paulz stated that the committee of two had reported back to acting Mayor Dulin, and he informed them that he would call on Mr. Korst this afternoon.

"The globes are going to be washed if the work has got to be done by the aldermen," Alderman Badger said today.

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

Goldwyn has added another notable actor to his already list of famous folk. Along with Pauline Frederick, Geraldine Farrar, Will Rogers, Madge Kennedy and other stars who have been enticed from the speaking stage, they will now write Tellegen's name. Mr. Tellegen will play opposite his wife, Geraldine Farrar. The couple left New York recently for the Goldwyn studios in Culver City, Cal.

Mr. Tellegen has had a colorful career in the drama. Though his nationality is primarily a blending of Dutch and Greek, Mr. Tellegen is a typical product of the French school. His life has been interesting. At the age of 14 he ran away from his home in Holland, where he received his early education. He has traveled extensively. Indeed, the only countries which he has not visited are China and Japan.

In order to make a living after running away from his source of support, Lou Tellegen followed various trades—baker, carpenter, tailor, dramatic critic.

Several years later he returned home and applied himself to the study of the plastic art. Here he felt he was achieving something. At the age of 24 he came to America as her leading man, and in 1912 he made his first appearance in the United States in "John of Arc."

In the last few years Mr. Tellegen has achieved widespread popularity in this country. Perhaps his most notable appearance was with Dorothy Donnelly in "The War of the Worlds," which he played in "The War of the Worlds."

OFF WITH HER HAIR!
Dorothy Gish has been threatening to bob her hair. Constance Talmadge, her best friend, has been urging her on, but Dorothy can't quite make up her mind to do it. The other day a box came addressed to Miss Dorothy Gish from Constance's in New York. It was from Constance Talmadge. "I bet Connie has sent me a stunning purse!" exclaimed Dorothy. "I need one, too." She hastened to unfasten the package and found—box of Constance's hair. Also a note which read, "I bet you to it." Dorothy is quite sure that her pal will regret having the locks snipped, and is saving them for future use.

"Why, doctor, I've got several pains in my back—two whole ones and a half a one on the left side and another zig-zag one on my right side."

"'Hm; sounds ominous," remarked the doctor, drawing his brows together.

Then Dr. F. Fishent put his ear to the man's chest on the right side.

"Just what I thought," Mr. Finkie; your heart isn't beating on the right side.

"Just take one of these little pills ten minutes before you feel the pains coming on. Two dollars," please.

And the man, with difficulty, shoved the black cannon balls the doctor called "pills" in his pocket.

THE WISHING PLANE

Ladydear was wondering why Jane held Booh so tight with one arm and was clinging to her with the other. She found out a minute later when Jane said:

"Oh, Jack, I wonder if these are cannibals like those people Uncle George told us about?"

"Bless your heart, no," said Dr. Cheer. "They wouldn't hurt any of us."

So the journey through the village began. Jane and Ladydear were interested in the tiny bubbles in cradles made of bamboo and leaves and hung from the ceilings of the houses. In some of the houses other children kept these cradles swinging by pushing them over now and then. In one house the mother was singing what Jane thought was an awfully strange song to the baby, but when Dr. Cheer told her what the song meant in English she found out it was just as pretty a cradle song as those mother had sung to her and Jack.

Jack noticed how even the boys had drawings all over their bodies. Queer animals and things were painted on them. Dr. Cheer told them how this was part of a boy's dress, just like a waist or stockings were part of Jack's dress.

While Ladydear and Jane were watching the women at their work two of the little brown boys took Jack with them. Booh decided Jane was in safe hands so he trotted along with Jack. Booh almost came to grief a few minutes later, when two savage dogs jumped out of the bushes at the side of the road and started after him. Of course you couldn't blame the dogs for they had never seen a little white dog like Booh, and were just as curious about him as their masters were about Jack. Jack grabbed Booh and the little brown boys grabbed their dogs, and then sent their own dogs after Jack's little friends started him by the wonderful way they jumped fences and swung about in the low branches of the trees along the side of the road. Jack wondered how they could do it until later Captain Brave told him that these little folks did not have marbles and baseball and other games to play, and so they made up their own games using the trees and other things in their sport.

The island boys took Jack down to the beach. The waves were coming in pretty big, Jack thought, but some of his new friends jumped into the water and swam about as though the ocean was just as calm as could be.

Jack thought he had never seen such wonderful boys. On the beach Jack found were made from the bark of trees. The boys pushed one of these into the water and asked Jack to climb in. Jack wouldn't admit it, but he was a little afraid. He got in, taking Booh with him.

The boys showed what good paddlers they were by riding him safely a long ways out from the beach and back again. The waves made Booh angry by splashing over the top of the boat, so he stood up in the front of the boat and barked at them. An angry his one came along and knocked him right into the ocean. The island boys didn't know that even though he was little he could swim like any other dog, so one of them jumped in to help him. They could have seen Booh when they lifted him back into the boat. Of all the wet little dogs you ever saw in all your life he was the wettest. He looked for all the world like a great big ball of cotton, soaked through and through, and the expression on his face said clearly that he was thoroughly disgusted with everything he had done since coming to the island had caused him trouble.

A few minutes later Jack and the boys went back on the beach.

PRESIDENT ASKS PROHIBITION BILL BE REPEALED

contrary to the directness of the president's declaration on that point left no doubt that he was through with any possible scheme of permanent retention.

"The telegraph and telephone lines," said the message, "will of course be returned to their owners as soon as the transfer can be effected without administrative confusion. The railroads will be handed over to their owners at the end of the calendar year."

In the case of each the president asked for legislation to make easier the re-adjustments necessitated by the change.

In his recommendation for readjustment of taxation the president made it clear that he did not expect a fundamental readjustment of the democratic tariff rates that have been operative for the past six years.

He asked for tariff changes only to protect special new interests like the dye-stuffs industry. Some reductions were advocated in war-time excess profits taxes and the present taxes on retail sales, the president thought could be dispensed with entirely.

G. O. P. Attitude Doubtful.

What will be the reply of the republican congress to these proposals became at once the topic of discussion everywhere about the capitol. In returning the railroads it generally was conceded the republican leaders will readily give the president their co-operation. But as to prohibition and tariff and internal revenue taxation, the case was more doubtful.

These are problems on which no very clear sentiment apparently has been formed in either of the great parties.

The recommendations regarding labor were general but the president called attention to the need for partnership between capital and labor and a genuine "democratization of industry."

On tariff revision the president said the United States should have the means of properly protecting itself when there was danger of discriminating against it by foreign nations.

"Though we are as far as possible from desiring to enter upon a course of retaliation," he said, "we must frankly face the fact that hostile legislation by other nations is not beyond the range of possibilities, and that it may have to be met by counter-legislation."

"Although the United States will gladly and unhesitatingly join in the program of international disarmament, it will, nevertheless be a policy of obvious prudence to make certain of the successful maintenance of many strong and well equipped chemical plants."

marvelous showing they made while fighting the Germans.

When the men were dismissed they were taken in autos to their homes where other real welcomes awaited them. They were a tired but happy crowd and many of them were heard to remark, "I would go through it all again if I thought I would get another welcome like the people gave us."

Company M heard the call. They left this city nearly two years ago and arrived home just one month after they left Haubach, Germany, on the first step for home and peace.

Dance on Streets.

Three hundred couples took part in the pavement dance on North bluff street last night given in honor of the returned heroes. Probably 1,000 more watched the dancers from sides of the street.

The Bowler City band furnished the music for the affair which began at eight o'clock and continued until 11 o'clock. Scores of soldiers danced.

The dance was fully as much of a success as previous ones, although arranged on such short notice that a number of people were not aware that there was to be a dance. The pavement was in good condition for dancing, it having been thoroughly flushed in the afternoon by the city flusher.

The employees of the New Doty Manufacturing company, 302 North Main street, planned a little welcome for the company M boys Monday. They went out in cars to meet them when they arrived, and presented each one with a red rose.

Circle No. 4 of the Carroll M. E. church will meet with Mrs. Yates Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

Why People Say They Couldn't Afford to Build Without Flaxlinum

A Phase of the building question of interest to every Prospective Home-builder who considers comfort and economy.

PEOPLE who have used Flaxlinum in insulating their homes against heat and cold have told us over and over that if they were going to build again they couldn't afford not to use Flaxlinum.

These people represent home-owners of all classes, from the owner of a cottage to the owner of a mansion. Some put the stress on comfort—others on economy.

With such endorsements, isn't it worth your while to investigate Flaxlinum before you finish the plans for your home?

This, in brief, is why Flaxlinum users are Flaxlinum enthusiasts:

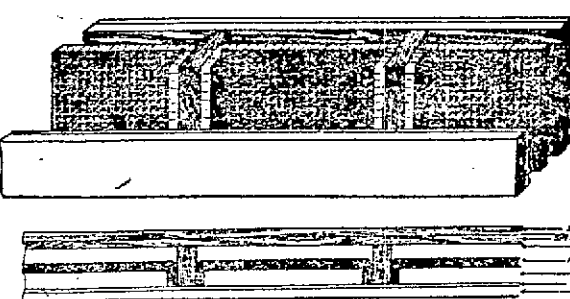

Flaxlinum keeps a house warm in the coldest winter weather and saves from 30% to 40% of the coal bill. It keeps a house cool in summer—10 to 15 degrees cooler than one that is not insulated.

The saving that Flaxlinum makes in fuel costs pays for it in a few years; and then it goes right on saving money for you.

Flaxlinum
TRADE MARK REGISTERED

Flaxlinum has been used for insulating houses for eight years. There is no longer anything new or experimental about it. It has become a necessity for thrifty builders.

A layer of half-inch Flaxlinum, which is ordinarily used in house construction, is equivalent in heat and cold resistance to thirty thicknesses of building paper or to four inches of back plaster.

These illustrations show how Flaxlinum is flanged to fit between the studding wall of a house. No special construction. Working application drawings on request.

It's Cheaper to Build a Warm House than to Heat a Cold One
NORTHERN INSULATING COMPANY, St. Paul, Minn.

Flaxlinum is used in the walls and roof of a house. Roof insulation is important, for that's where the summer sun strikes hardest and where most of the heat escapes in winter. Many people insulate the side wall and overlook the roof, but the roof is really the most important part of the house to insulate.

No Special Framing Required

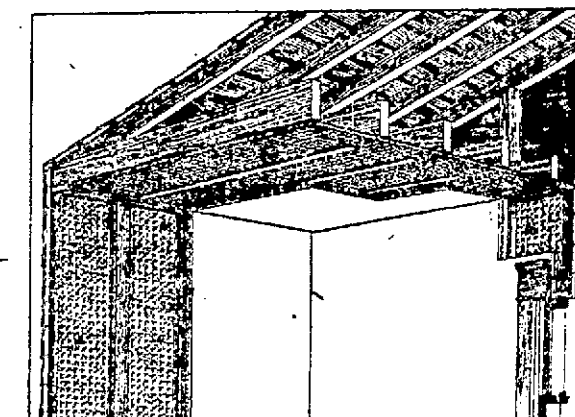

No special framing or construction is necessary for applying Flaxlinum. It is flanged to fit between the studding in the side walls, and is all ready to be nailed into place. So you can use Flaxlinum even if the framework of your house is already up. The illustrations below show how Flaxlinum forms double air-spaces in the walls.

Flaxlinum for Farm Use

Flaxlinum increases farm profits by making possible warm farm buildings. Every farmer knows that hens lay better in a warm poultry house; that a warm hog house means earlier and healthier pigs; that warm dairy barns mean more milk, etc.

Flaxlinum is sold by leading building material dealers everywhere. It is specified by the best architects and endorsed by reputable contractors. If you do not know the name of your nearest Flaxlinum dealer, write us.

Free sample and literature sent on request. In writing, please state what kind of building you are interested in.

Illustrating a Type of Roof Insulation. In a one and two story house where the attic is not to be used for living quarters, the Flaxlinum can be effectively and economically used by applying it to the underside of the ceiling joists. Furring strips are laid over Flaxlinum and the ready for lath and plaster. This is one of the effective applications to prevent the heat from escaping through the roof in winter, and for keeping it out in summer. Working application drawings on request.

Seniors Capture High School Championship

By George McManus.

TRIUMPH OVER JUNIOR NINE, 7-6, IN HOT BATTLE

BY KID BIFF.

Junior Nine—7, Seniors—6. Such was the score at the end of nine innings of the championship game of the high school.

"Ted" Hager, the veteran amateur pitcher, tossed good ball for the seniors, but was accorded poor support in the sixth and seventh innings which lost the game for the underclassmen. Sprackling, the clever thrower for the Senior Nine, allowed but few hits and was given errorless support by his classmates.

In the first inning things looked good for the seniors when they scored one run and the juniors in their turn with the stick were thrown out at first base, one, two, three.

At the end of the second frame the score stood the same with just three men facing each pitcher each inning. Juniors Score Again.

In the fourth inning, an error on the part of the seniors coupled with a clean hit by Barriage sent in another man for the underclassmen, while Hager retired the Senior batters with three strikeouts.

The feature of the fifth inning was a spectacular catch made by Barriage which retired the side with the juniors still on the long end of the score.

In the first frame of the sixth inning, the underclassmen got two men on bases but failed to score.

Sprackling, the best man up for the seniors got on base through Rauhauser's error. Clark, next man up, dropped a safe hit over first base advancing Sprackling to third. Hager then tightened up and struck out ten, Voltz, ginning a speedy grounder to Rauhauser which went thru his mitts allowing two scores. Dugan next at bat rapped a grounder to Black, third baseman who made a nice pick-up but failed to peg it to first in time to catch the runner. Fisher then made his only hit of the day when he sliced one over second base bringing in Voltz. Nuzum, next at bat hit a fast grounder between first and second ground which Tunstead failed to chase after, misjudging the direction of the ball.

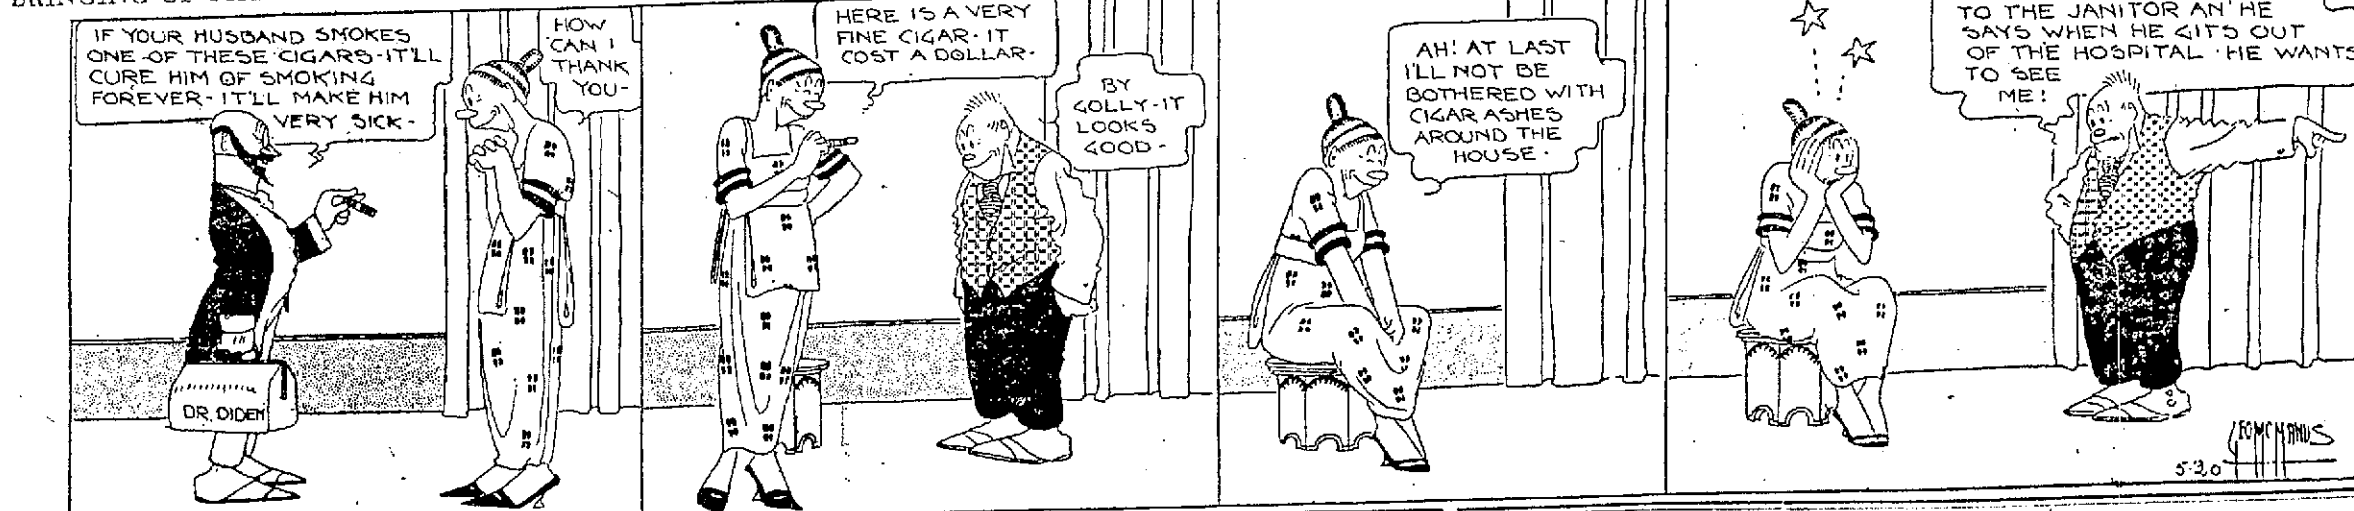

With three men on bases Teddy again tightened up and struck out McElay and Roy, retiring the side.

More Runs on Errors. In the seventh inning, the juniors again failed to score while the upper classmen managed to bring in two runs through errors of the infield players.

In the first part of the eighth, Ann Barrage got on base by a nice pick-up and a safe hit by Rauhauser, scored. Sprackling then tightened up and fanned Hager. Black, next man up, hit a sharp grounder, which Nuzum fumbled, allowing Rauhauser to score. Things began to look bright for the underclassmen with them but one point behind, when Powers fanned.

"Dimples" Crowley, first man up for the juniors in the ninth inning as pinch hitter was hit with the ball. On the next pitched ball he stole second and with a safe hit by Rauhauser, scored. Sprackling then tightened up and fanned Hager. Black, next man up, hit a sharp grounder, which Nuzum fumbled, allowing Rauhauser to score. Things began to look bright for the underclassmen with them but one point behind, when Powers fanned.

Push for School Team.

All in all the high school students showed good sportsmanship and if plans of some of the students are carried out there should be good material for a team to represent the Janesville high school, which would be capable of high school level. Beloit, Edgerton, Madison and some of the stronger and more organized teams.

"Ted" Hager, manager of the Juniors, stated today that there would probably be two more games played between the Junior and Senior classes, the last one being played at the Junior and Senior picnic, May 29.

DUAL TRACK MEET OPENS NEXT WEEK

Physical Director Craig hopes to start the dual track meet between the high school and employed boys "Y" classes next week. An effort will be made to clear the slate in both classes this week so that the finals may begin.

JACK HIKES 6 MILES AS TRAINING STARTER

(By Associated Press.) Toledo, O., May 20.—Jack Dempsey started off on his conditioning grind today, in preparation for his heavyweight championship battle with Jess Willard here July 4. The challenger covered six miles over the sandy beach of Maumee Bay before returning to camp.

Manager Jack Kearns instructed Bill Tate, a negro heavyweight of New York, to report at once so it is regarded probable that Dempsey will start boxing this week. Half a dozen other sparring partners will be in camp before the end of the week.

Dempsey was presented with a valuable bulldog by a Toledo admirer. The challenger named him "Jess".

ARMY MAT CHAMP SEEKS HEAVY TITLE

Sergt. Frank S. Leavitt.

Sergeant Frank S. Leavitt is the latest wrestler to seek the world's heavyweight title. He has been overseas with the U. S. tank corps. He had won his match in the semi-finals in the Cioque de Paree A. E. F. tournament and was the favorite in the final when ordered home. He wants to meet Zbyszko, Lewis, Caddock, Plesina and all the other heavies.

FOOTVILLE WILL MEET ROCKFORD, SUNDAY

With two defeats of the Blackhawks to their credit, the fast Footville White Sox will take on the Rockford Maroons at Footville, Sunday afternoon. The game should be a close one as the Sox have not lost a game this year while the Maroons have only one defeat, the 5 to 4 score handed them by the Janes here three weeks ago.

The Sox have one of the strongest teams in years. All the baseball talent in the western half of the country has been gathered together and goes to make up a powerful team. They are making up a fast aggregation. This was fully demonstrated at the fair grounds, Sunday.

Efforts are being made by Manager Murphy of the Lawrence Lunch Janes to arrange a game for some Sunday in June. Fans would like to see these two nines in action against each other.

HITS

Benny Leonard Arrested. New York, May 20.—"Benny" Leonard, lightweight pugilist champion, was arrested last night charged with spitting in a boy's eye and calling a young woman a name. He was taken to the night court in a patrol wagon. The incident occurred at 134th st. and Broadway. Robert Legere, 15, was the victim. A young woman who interfered alleged she was insulted. JANES WILL GET TWO WORKOUTS FOR GAME WITH EDGERTON NINE

In preparation for the big game with the Highway Trailer team of Edgerton at the fair grounds here, Sunday, Jimmie Murphy orders every member of the Janes out for practice at the fair grounds at 6:30 tonight and again Friday night. All players who expect to remain on the team must report for practice, he says.

Dopp, Menzel, Kukukske, Berger, Pira, Viny, Britt, Miller—all these men are ordered to be out. Try-outs will be given all others. Eldred who won for Footville against the Hawks, Sunday, will probably be seen on the mound for the Janes.

Players who have not yet turned in their uniforms to be relettered should do so at once. They can be left with Murphy at the London hotel or at the Gazette.

Manager Murphy wishes fans to distinctly understand that the Janes are not to be hurried from the grandstand last Sunday, it was evident that a number of fans were under the impression that the Blackhawks were the Janes.

ABE MARTIN

Some of the speakers who pretend to be so jealous of the Monroe doctrine wouldn't last two blocks on the rear end of a street car. "Knowin' after shakin' hands with someone is a fine thing."

"We women of today have a big advantage in some respects, at least, over our mothers and grandmothers. It was a young mother who was speaking and she smiled reminiscently as she spoke.

"Take the fever thermometer as an example. Yesterday morning my son, John, tried to put one over on me to stay at home on the pretext of being too sick to go to school. He certainly did look like a sick boy when I knew I was watching him and suggested that he did not care for any breakfast.

"This looked serious because, ordinarily, he eats more at breakfast than the rest of the family put together. And yet I could not believe that he was really sick. He is old enough to have learned that I give a good deal of attention to lack of appetite as a suspicious symptom. I suspected, however, that he had in mind doing something more attractive than eating. And yet I could not take any chances.

"For his own sake and in consideration of the other children, I had to be certain that he was not coming down with some contagious disease. I examined his throat under a good light and found it to be of good healthy pink color. His nose was not "smelly". Finally, I put the decision up to the clinical thermometer. This failed to register so much as 98 degrees. On the very edge of the thermometer my sentence was breakfast and school. Time proved my diagnosis and treatment to be correct.

"Very good," I said, "but were you ever a nurse that you should know about examining throats and taking temperatures?"

"Why, no," she replied somewhat scornfully. "A really conscientious mother does not need to spend years in a hospital to be a fairly intelligent health examiner of her own children. Any woman can learn to use a thermometer in a few minutes. In time she can learn enough about the signs of disease and health to know when to call in the assistance of someone who knows more."

Utilizing Time. "Ladies," announced the president of an afternoon bridge club. "It has been moved and seconded that there shall be no conversation at the card tables. What shall we do with the motion?" "I suggest," said a sprightly member, "that we discuss it while we play."

Best Method of Rising. Some trust to luck—some rely upon influence—some expect promotion without self-assertion—but the persevering rise upon the wings of will.—Berbert Kaufman.
